When I was 13, I read a book by Frédéric Bastiat - The Law - which changed my life. The book starts with “The law, I say, not only turned from its proper purpose but made to follow an entirely contrary purpose! The law become the weapon of every kind of greed! Instead of checking crime, the law itself guilty of the evils it is supposed to punish!”

The objective of the new state is to build a free country where honest people can prosper without being oppressed by governments. We are building a country that can serve as a good example for other countries.

The biggest improvement is that, in Liberland, taxes are voluntary and people are rewarded when they pay them. We founded Liberland on 13 April 2015 to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Jefferson. We wanted to invoke the spirit of the American Revolution. We also want to combine the best elements of the American republic, Swiss democracy, and the meritocracy of Singapore. We want to put our system on the blockchain so that the government will work in a modern and transparent way.

“I want my sons and their whole generation here in Europe and globally to explore space in a private spaceship instead of filing bureaucratic paperwork on earth.”

Vít Jedlička, at TEDx, November 2019

“At that point I realized it might be easier to start a new country than change an existing one.”
Spillover economic effects of Liberland would benefit Serbian and Croatian economies

Projections to 2030

As a high economic freedom zone, Liberland could provide a boost of 1% and 1.3% of GDP growth annually to Serbia and Croatia respectively, with another one-off boost of 0.33% and 0.17% stemming from increased exports. In the long run, these would lead to significant effects: in just a decade (2020–2030) Serbian GDP would increase by USD 8.1 billion or USD 2,400 per capita. Croatia would gain even more, with an increase in GDP of USD 10.7 billion or USD 4,000 per capita.

THE CASE FOR LIBERLAND

Serbia is happy to recognize the straightened Danube as the new boundary as it receives an increase in overall territory. Croatia feels that it has gotten the short end of the bargain and refuses to claim the area now claimed by Liberland because this would validate Serbia’s claim to the territory on the other side of the river.

According to Article 3 of the Montevideo Convention, the prevailing treaty on recognition of states, “the political existence of the state is independent of recognition by the other states.”

Article 1 outlines that a state simply needs to have:
TERRITORY
The Free Republic of Liberland (known simply as “Liberland”) is a sovereign state with its physical territory located between Croatia and Serbia on the west bank of the Danube river. The nearest towns are Zmajevac (Croatia) and Bački Monoštor (Autonomous Province of Vojvodina, Serbia).

On some maps, this area is referred to as “Gornja Siga.” Since the breakup of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, a border dispute has existed between Croatia and Serbia, with both sides presenting conflicting claims to various territories along the banks of the Danube River.

However, this area along the west bank of the Danube River has not been claimed by either Croatia, Serbia, or any other country and was therefore in a state of terra nullius—i.e., no man’s land—until the current leader of the provisional government President Vít Jedlička and the other founders of Liberland laid claim to the territory on 13 April 2015.
We studied the official maps and territorial claims of both Croatia and Serbia carefully so as not to encroach upon their territories. Croatia maintains that the land belongs to Serbia despite its police blockade around the territory, which Serbia no longer claims. It is our position that a court will not award land to a party that does not claim it.

Liberland’s goal is to ensure fair representation in the resolution of border issues. Our legal team may appeal to the International Court of Justice to ensure proportionate representation. Legal experts and lawyers in the field of international law who support our claim to statehood are welcome to join us.

Several facts support our statehood from a legal perspective. Liberland’s formation is based on self-governance of its own people; i.e., its citizens. Our country was proclaimed with the tacit consent of its parent state Serbia, which waived its claim to the land. Liberland does not violate the territorial integrity of another country and was not claimed by use of force. We are not a separatist or secession movement, or a coup or takeover of an existing state. With no applicable counterclaim on the land, Liberland’s proclamation of 13 April 2015 is legitimate and in accordance with international law.
Stanley Lung and MIX Design Studio, winner of the Special Jury Awards for “The most futuristic design” at Liberland Design Competition 2015
“The critical issue here is the question of how much prescriptive planning, if any, would not only be compatible with the libertarian ideological credentials of Liberland, but more importantly, how much planning and what kind, if any, would be optimally enhancing the prosperity for Liberland.”

POPUlATION
Liberland has attracted investors, adventurers, and potential settlers from all over the world. We intend to harness the people power of Liberland into a global movement for individual liberty.

Liberlanders are a unique group of people who share certain beliefs:
1. Respect for the rights of others, regardless of their race, ethnicity, orientation, or religion
2. Respect for the private property of others, which is untouchable
3. Belief in a free and open society, and reject all forms of totalitarianism
4. Opposition to initiating force or violence against others

Citizenship Certificates
Certificates are given to people who dedicated their work to Liberland's development or donated financially in the value of at least 5,000 Liberland merits (LLM). These are awarded in person at a ceremony during our events.

Passports
Liberland diplomatic passports are intended for trustworthy and officially appointed representatives of Liberland. They are designed to meet all international and security standards. Our passports are not intended for general issuance or travel yet, but our diplomatic team presents them in countries where we have established diplomatic relations.

E-Residency cards
Inspired by the Estonian E-Residency program, Liberland developed its own cards for personal identification and access to the Liberland E-Governance system. Getting an E-Residency card is a first step to gain citizenship.
Annual Anniversary Celebration
Every year, since the founding of Liberland, we organise a huge meet-up along with a conference to celebrate our anniversary. This includes a boat trip to the shores of Liberland, presenting citizenships and awards, and enjoying the excellent local cuisine and activities. The conference hosted great speakers like US Congressman Tom Garrett, Croatian Member of Parliament Ivan Pernar, and the legendary hero of freedom Ron Paul in 2020.

We bring to you something unseen in Europe or the Balkans. Come and contribute to an event with freedom lovers from all around the world. We started Floating Man in 2019 as an annual summer event. There’ll be lots of music, games, adventure, and fun, so join us!

Kindly contact media@floatingman.ll.land if you like to join our line of performers this year.
We are building a floating beta version of the Liberland settlement on the Serbian side of the Danube River. Once we achieve recognition from our neighbours, we will simply move it to the area of Liberland. Until we reach that goal, we are operating in a safe and comfortable place allowing Liberlanders to visit the area and meet with each other. Our fleet helps us deepen relations with the local community.

The guiding principles of Liberland’s founding philosophy are classical liberal (libertarian) ideals; i.e., limited government, free markets, voluntary association, and peace. These principles, coupled with innovations in finance and technology, can unleash a tremendous amount of human and economic potential and serve as a model for the rest of the world.

Liberland has brought considerable business to the local boating, transportation, real estate, restaurant, and hotel industries, in particular to Serbia.

The idea of a free zone existing between Croatia and Serbia has sparked immense interest in the region, and we are talking to investors and entrepreneurs willing to invest in facilities of the Free-Trade Zone.

Liberland citizens have settled in the capital Belgrade, opening multiple high-tech and cryptocurrency enterprises. By expanding this approach, and making this strategy clear to regional stakeholders, we will demonstrate the real value we can bring to the table.

We seek to bring enormous benefits to the area while at the same time preserving the historic character and beautiful nature of the region.

“Liberland looks to be an ally and friend of its neighbours. Although we are small in size, we can be an additional voice in favour of the interests of the region among the community of nations.”

Thomas D. Walls, Minister of Foreign Affairs
We’ve started buying space in Apatin’s Free-Trade Zone to convert it to a Liberland Business Incubator. The LIBERLAND GROUP DOO SOMBOR operates as a conglomerate to harbour the interests of Liberland companies. Working as an entity under one umbrella offers advantages like organization of transportation, shipping, loading, agency services, insurance and reinsurance, and banking and cryptocurrency payment services.

Apatin is very close to Liberland and is located on the Danube river with a natural ‘road’ connecting ten European countries. The Free-Trade Zone in Apatin covers an area of 122 ha, which provides plenty of space for future expansion just ten kilometres from Liberland on the Danube. The Croatian (EU) border is 24km away, and the Hungarian border (EU) lies 42km away.

Serbia offers facilities for production and service activities including storage, processing, assembly, repackaging, and labelling of goods. Prices for gasoline (€0.38/m³ – €0.42/m³) and electricity (€0.0112 – €0.067/kWh) are among the lowest in Europe, keeping production costs low.

Jana Markovičová | FIRST LADY

She is one of the co-founders of Liberland. With an education in Fine Arts, she worked as an Adviser for Artists and Photographers at desktop publishing before switching to the art of physiotherapy. Nowadays, she is fulfilling the key role of her life—motherhood. Moreover, she (partially) supervises the Prague office and often organizes Liberland social events. Her priorities for the future are healing the environment and creating powerful relationships.

Mr. Wozniak is an entrepreneur and investor with over 35 years of experience in the fields of international financial trade, logistics and transportation, safety, and produce. He has held various leadership roles in several American, Polish, and international corporations. A prominent advocate of Liberland, he has been contributing to Liberland's recognition since its inception.

The Vice President is an executive extension of the President. As a designated representative of Liberland's mission, the Vice President's main responsibility is to implement the President's agenda and oversee operations across all governmental branches.

Presiding over official meetings and proceedings in addition to acting as an adviser to the President, the Vice President's role is vital in supporting the cultivation of the Liberland mission and earning global recognition.

The Vice President acts as an official representative, making public appearances and performing ceremonial duties in place of the President when necessary.

Pierre-Louis Boitel | VICE PRESIDENT

Mr. Boitel studied civil engineering in Paris as well as psychology and management at the University of Sorbonne and went on to immerse himself in epistemology as well as political philosophy and economics. A long-standing actor of freedom in the French-speaking world, where he has lectured and written numerous articles.

He is one of the very first to have joined the adventure of Liberland. He was representing Liberland in France where he constituted the first delegation in that country and organized one of the first official trips of President Jedlicka to Western Europe. Mr. Boitel also worked on the organization of Liberland, on its Constitution, on the first ideas of tokenization, and on the processing of citizenship applications. He assisted the president in his travels across Europe to Paris, La Chanée, London, Rome, Prague, Brussels.

He is also a donor and investor in projects aimed at helping the development of Liberland. He is a loyal long-term partner of Liberland, attentive to the integrity of the project in relation to its roots and humanist values.

Thomas D. Walls
MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Thomas D. Walls is a libertarian activist in the US and has a strong interest in the languages, culture, and history of Europe. He worked in the German Bundestag and the US Embassy in Germany under the late Ambassador Richard Holbrooke, who went on to bring the former Yugoslav republics together for the Dayton Accords peace agreement. He worked for the US Libertarian Party in Washington DC, and is one of the founders of the Republican Liberty Caucus (RLC). Mr. Walls is a travel consultant and professional translator of German, Dutch and Spanish.

As Minister of Foreign Affairs, Thomas Walls’ role is to help put Liberland on the map. He works with the President, Cabinet and Secretary of State to help lay out a vision for our country and citizens and to make the Free Republic of Liberland an example for neighbouring countries and the world. The vision we promote is one of a free country, an environment in which the government is minimal and voluntary interactions are the governing principle.

Dr. Tariq Abbasi KGCIOM MBE DL FRSA
SECRETARY OF STATE

The Secretary of State is the principal foreign policy adviser to the President. This pivotal role provides direction and coordination of relations between Liberland and other countries. The office implements Liberlandian foreign policy and negotiates agreements with other governments.

Since 2015, Liberland has established consulates, trade missions, embassies, and designated special envoys in over 90 countries. The Secretary of State communicates Liberlandian foreign policy to cabinet ministers and to the wider Liberlandian public.

The office keeps official records and documents including the constitution, legislative acts, executive orders, regulations, and interpretations of statutes as well as registration of businesses. Dr. Abbasi has won several international awards for philanthropic work over the past three decades. He holds a PhD in AI and two Honorary Doctorates.

Mr. Kazaryan has been serving as Liberland’s Deputy Minister of Interior since January 2020. His more than 25-year professional career spans the technology and digital marketing realms with the last two decades in senior executive roles at several technology and marketing firms, where he built software systems for Fortune 100 companies, bootstrapped startups, and headed digital marketing operations at two global marketing conglomerates.

Several governance aspects fall within the mandate of the Liberland Ministry of Interior, like the citizenship and E-Residency programmes that are part of the Immigration and Naturalization Services. The Ministry of Interior is also responsible for national security, labour market systems, asset and corporate registries, and other auxiliary services to support Liberland.

The Constitution and governing bodies will be voted for by the citizens when E-Governance systems are fully launched by the Ministry of Interior.

interior@gov.ll.land
The Free Republic of Liberland is an independent state actor and strives to establish relations with the global community of nations.

As an international legal entity, Liberland has the ability to sign agreements and treaties and to send and receive legations. For instance, we have established relations with Somaliland, signed a memorandum of understanding, and mutually recognize each others’ diplomatic passports. In 2018, the Liberland mission there facilitated the distribution of seven tonnes of food to the victims of Cyclone Sagar donated by Liberland citizens.

We have engaged with local and regional officials to bring Liberland businesses in Serbia and other countries. The economic situation in the Balkans offers Liberland citizens a prime opportunity for investment and growth in several sectors, and we feel regional governments should and will be receptive to our message.
The concept of a humanitarian assistance programme for Liberland supporters to rally around was initiated in early 2019. The Liberland Aid Foundation is a US-registered not-for-profit organization operated by Nicholas and Julia Rodriguez and Stephen Wood, along with a board of directors with seven members.

The Liberland Aid Foundation received non-profit 501(c)(3) status in 2019, which allows donations made by US citizens and residents to be considered tax-deductible contributions.

The Liberland Aid Foundation is focused on providing:
- humanitarian aid
- disaster preparedness
- food assistance
- water sanitation and hygiene
- education and training
- conservation and sustainability

“We envision a world where trust exists between partner nations, and humanitarian efforts help to alleviate human suffering so that people can live a dignified existence in a more peaceful world.”

Liberland’s US team, led by US representative Dave Molineaux, is a role model for Liberland organizations worldwide. The team facilitates visits of the President, arranges meetings with elected officials, diplomats, and entrepreneurs.

Along with Deputy Representative Joseph Langenbrunner and DC Representative Pranav Badhwar, Dave and his team work tirelessly to put Liberland on the radar of decision makers in the US with much success. They have arranged several meetings with US Senators, Congresspeople, ambassadors, CEOs, policy experts, and US citizens interested in seeing Liberland succeed.
